

YOUR HEART HAS BEEN BEATING SINCE YOU WERE 21 DAYS OLD....

For you created my inmost being; you knit me together in my mother's womb. I praise you because I am fearfully and wonderfully made; your works are wonderful, I know that full well. My frame was not hidden from you when I was made in the secret place. When I was woven together in the depths of the earth, your eyes saw my unformed body. All the days ordained for me were written in your book before one of them came to be. Psalm 139:13-16

"Before I formed you in the womb, I knew you, before you were born I set you apart; I appointed you as a prophet to the nations." Jer 1:5

As you do not know the path of the wind, or how the body is formed in a mother's womb, so you cannot understand the work of God, the Maker of all things. Ecc 11:5

You turn things upside down, as if the potter were thought to be the clay! Shall what is formed say to him who formed it, "He did not make me"? Can the pot say to the potter, "He knows nothing"?
Isaiah 29:16

The Lord God formed the man from the dust of the ground and breathed into his nostrils the breath of life, and the man became a living being. Gen 2:7

As a father has compassion on his children, so the LORD has compassion on those who fear him; for he knows how we are formed, he remembers that we are dust. Psalm 103:13-14

But who are you, O man, to talk back to God? "Shall what is formed say to him who formed it, 'Why did you make me like this?'" Does not the potter have the right to make out of the same lump of clay some pottery for noble purposes and some for common use? Rom 9:20-21

How great is the love the Father has lavished on us, that we should be called children of God! And that is what we are! The reason the world does not know us is that it did not know him. Dear friends, now we are children of God, and what we will be has not yet been made known. But we know that when he appears, we shall be like him, for we shall see him as he is.
1 John 3:1-2

The pre-born, unborn baby (also known as a fetus), in the photograph is approximately 10 weeks old. In the photo, do you see the baby's ears, face, hands, legs, arms, fingers and blood vessels? Within the baby's ribcage the heart has been beating since he or she was just 21 days old from conception. The lungs are maturing along with the other vital organs. The baby's brain is already located within the skull, attached to his or her spinal cord. Through the X Y chromosome combinations, the sex has already been determined.

When a picture is worth a thousand words, there is really no room for argument that this is indeed a human being. Left alone to continue in its natural growth and development, six and one-half months from now (give or take), a beautiful bundle of joy will be welcomed into this world.

Life is a gift from God. God gives life, and God takes it away. If we could add to our baby book the photos of our development while still within our mothers' wombs, we would see ourselves from our very creation (conception) through all the time we have spent on this earth up to and including today. Modern ultra sounds make this possible.

Over the years we marvel at how someone has or has not changed: from baby to toddler to kindergarten; then from grade schooler to teenager to adult; then from young adult to parent to grand parent. For some of us, we start with no hair and end with no hair. Some of us start frail and end frail. Throughout all our years on earth, no one would dare call us anything but human. So, at what point in your own life did you become human, at birth or at conception? If you say 'at birth', then what species were you while in the womb?

History has shown through the slave trade and WWII, as well as through more recent annihilations of races during the 20th and 21st centuries, that once people are 'de-humanized' their life has no value, and anyone can take it for any reason - or no reason at all. Those lives become so worthless they need to be destroyed. However; mankind knows within their own hearts that the taking of innocent life is wrong. To get around this moral dilemma and to be able to sleep at night, those humans have to be re-categorized, and their humanity needs to be stripped from them.

Thus, the world has come up with derogatory words like infidel, barbarian, mouth breather, low life, swine, pigs and such. (Wikipedia states there are over 300 pejorative terms for people as of this writing) Each term is used to make others less than human, less than equal to other humans. Once these 'deplorables' (do you recognize the use of this term lately?) are made out to be 'less than human' their extinction is viewed as a 'good' thing.

Unborn children have also been given derogative names to de-humanize them. Words and terms such as: a blob of tissue, a problem, a choice. These terms strip their humanity from them and make them easier to exploit and kill. Looking again at that photograph, would you use those terms to describe what you see?

Under the US Supreme Court ruling in Roe v Wade, women have the right to seek termination of their pregnancy. It is their body and they have the right to choose. The statement sounds reasonable, kind of like, "It's my body, if I want a tattoo, it's my business".

Using words a third grader could understand, that same statement would sound like this: "Women have the right to end the life of their unborn child. The child is growing within their body and they should have the right to choose whether they want their baby to live or die." Ironically, once that same baby has been issued a Birth Certificate, that same woman would find herself in prison for murder.

PTSD is an acronym for Post Traumatic Stress Disorder. Although readily observable in soldiers who have seen combat, the term also can be identified with women who have undergone an abortion procedure. God has written on the hearts of man and woman the knowledge of right and wrong. Although a woman may want to believe that it is okay to have an abortion, their heart and soul knows it is wrong. Guilt almost always sets in with drug and alcohol abuse following close behind. The knowledge they killed their own baby cannot be erased from their minds. The result: two victims.

Their guilt and shame is carried with them for the rest of their lives. If they were a Christian before, they most often turn away from God, convinced God could never forgive them for what they've done. Many of them think "If I can't forgive myself, then how could God possibly forgive me?"

These women have been conned by an industry that makes billions and billions of dollars killing unborn babies - and now in New York - live babies. A side industry has been developed in the harvesting of organs and stem cells from these murderous acts. Each day in America alone 6,000 babies and 6,000 mothers and countless fathers are all victims of this darkest, deepest evil performed under the disguise of "Freedom of Choice" and protected under federal law. However; any law that contradicts the law of God will have dire consequences.

For those women and men who have lost their unborn children to the mistake of having an abortion, take heart! God can and does forgive! It is the enemy, the devil, that prompted the act, that now accuses you of the act. Seek God's forgiveness, accept God's forgiveness, then forgive yourself. Seek a support group so that you can heal mentally and spiritually.

Warn others about the lie. Adoption is the loving answer to an unwanted pregnancy.

God warns us: "You shall not murder" Exodus 20:13
